

VICTORIAN VIOLENCE IN THE COLLEGE CLASSROOM

Dr. Christine D. Myers, Monmouth College
<http://cdmyers.info/VictorianViolence.html>

Did the course meet your expectations? Why or why not?

- Yes! I especially appreciated how we handled the topic of violence. We did not shy away from the tragedy of the crimes that occurred in Victorian England, but we also spoke of them respectfully and without flippancy.
- Absolutely! This class was very educational. I thought it was going to be very specific on certain violent figures but it was much more diverse than that!
- Throughout this course there has been many ideas that I have known about and that brought back previous knowledge about the topic. Expectations of this course were about average yet as this class comes to an end it was really enjoyable and I did not hate going.
- Yes. It was a very fun and exciting class and we got to talk with other professors about their view on the subject which was fun.
- I thought it met it and went beyond it. I learned even more than I thought I would.
- I feel that this class met all my expectations. We went over the subject in many different aspects and all of it was interesting to learn about.
- I honestly expected this class to be a lot harder and a lot more boring but it was relatively easy and the information was interesting
- yes, I wanted to learn about the deeper meaning of violence and why certain acts occur and we covered that.
- Yes! Fun and informative!
- The course met my expectations, it gave a very detailed look into Victorian crime especially with the time that we had.
- Yes, I thought it was an enjoyable experience and I learned a lot, which was exactly what I was looking for.
- Yes and no. I learned a lot about crime in the Victorian Era, but would have loved to learn more about famous murder cases in particular.